PDF2Tiff allows you to create and manipulate PDF files as if they were standard image files. It can also export PDFs in several formats and perform batch conversion of multiple PDF files. OcropusPro Version 8.0 (x64), a cost-effective OCR software, is a professional universal OCR solution which can be used to extract text from any images or PDFs. The latest development of OcropusPro 8.0 now supports Microsoft Bing Web Search and Amazon Rekognition. Key features of this new version are: - Target recognition: The most important feature of the software. OcropusPro 8.0 recognizes the images and PDFs as high-quality documents which can be used for any purpose. OcropusPro 8.0 identifies and extracts text from the images and PDFs. CPDF is intended to be a generic PDF reader with a page-by-page, font-based layout engine and a collection of features to make it easier to work with the PDF documents. CPDF stores the text from each page of a PDF file in a dictionary. If a line of text is found somewhere in a page, CPDF finds all the words in that page and stores the words as dictionary keys and the line of text as the value associated with the dictionary key. Since CPDF is a free, open source, cross platform PDF reader, you can: - Open any document in PDF format. - Find text, copy text, email text, or any other info stored in a PDF document. - Reuse the text content of PDF documents and convert them to HTML. CPDF is a free, cross platform source code written in C language. It can be compiled and used with C++, Java, C#, VB, Delphi, .NET, Python, shell, Perl and other languages. Its source code is available on GitHub. CPDF PDF to Image Capture is a professional utility which can convert PDFs to images. It can convert one or more PDF files to multiple images and optionally into GIF, JPG, BMP, PPM, TIF, TIFF, PSD or JPG format.
